Taxpayers Federation Commends Sandburg High School Board

Velma B. Crain, director of education research of the Illinois Taxpayers Federation, commends the Carl Sandburg high school board of education for providing excellent building facilities at a reasonable cost.

For some time, the taxpayers group has been concerned about the costs of the construction of schools in Illinois. In their opinion, some school boards have placed undue tax burdens on their citizens by erecting lavish buildings and equipping them with lush equipment far above their actual needs. A comprehensive study was undertaken, the results of which appear in a pamphlet entitled "More Schools for Your Money."

In a recent communication received at Sandburg from Velma Crain, she expressed the impressions gained from her visit there:

"May I say in passing that I visited Carl Sandburg high school while I was preparing material for the above mentioned pamphlet and it is my opinion that the board of education there has really done a fine job of providing excellent building facilities at what appeared to me to be a reasonable cost," she wrote. "It was decided by my committee, after I had visited five or six high schools, that since high school building facilities needed by this level of instruction vary so widely among the communities that a comprehensive study would be very difficult. Therefore, you will find 'More Schools for Your Money' is devoted entirely to elementary school discussions."

"I found your superintendent, Mr. Fisher, most cooperative when I visited your school. He took a lot of time to show me the building and gave me all the information I asked for. If we had followed our original plan of including high schools in this study, I want to assure you that your high school would George turned off the radio and smiled as Molly came in from baby-sitting at a neighbor's.

"Good program?" she asked. "Sure was—and about time it got on the air. A small businessman was discussing his tax problem."

"As who isn't?"

"Yes, but this fellow, like so many other small firms with seasonal peaks and valleys, really gets hit on the head with the high surtax."

"You see, when his business makes money, he gets up into a higher bracket, and the government socks him with a terrific surtax. So, he can't lay aside any money for the slack period . . ."

"So what does he do?" Molly wanted to know.

"So, if he hasn't any money to pay them, he has to lay off his employees until business picks up again."

"Sounds utterly crazy to me, George."

"And it is. Our whole economy is based on these thousands of small businesses. If they go under, so does the whole economy. Only a fair and equitable tax system can save them—and it's got to come!"

WTTW Seeks Aid From Public to Operate Station

George T. Grader, special assistant in public relations for the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, and Charles W. Gansz, public relations representative for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, have been named co-chairmen of a spring community drive for WTTW Channel 11, announced Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Chicago Educational Television Association.

They will head a campaign that will be launched the week of March 10.

A total of $312,000 is needed to underwrite the operations of the educational television station for the fiscal year beginning April 1, Mr. Ryerson said.

Of that sum, he added, $120,000 already has been raised in a special gifts solicitation that still is in progress.

The sum needed represents about half of WTTW's estimated budget for the next fiscal year, Mr. Ryerson explained. The station also finances itself thru special production contracts with the Educational Television and Radio Center for WTTW programs for national distribution; the Chicago board of education for direct programming costs of junior college credit courses for the freshman year, and video recording of programs for various agencies and organizations.

Total budget for the fiscal year, he pointed out, is $723,000.

More than 1,000 volunteers are now serving in the drive to provide portion of the estimated $4,000,000 needed to build and equip the new hospital. Campaign leaders and workers are emphasizing to donors that only about one-fifth of the total cost is being sought thru the building fund appeal. The balance of funds will be provided by the Evangelical Hospital Association which has operated Evangelical Hospital at 5421 S. Morgan Street for the past 45 years. The Association has accumulated $1,250,000 over a period of several years in the form of gifts and bequests and thru a $113,000 Ford Foundation grant. A mortgage loan on both Evangelical and Christ Community hospitals will also be made to finance part of the cost.

Minimum expense, $7.59 cents a week. Women in the 21-44 age group can be fed adequately for $5.66 a week.

Clothing costs range from $30 a year for an infant, to 233 a year for a girl between 16 and 20 who is employed. Older employed women can get by on $199 a year, while the housewife's minimum is $122 a year. The minimum budget for employed men is $119 a year.

Medical expense minimums range from $156 a year for a family of two to $364 a year for a family of six. This cost includes premium for health and hospitalization plans.

Happy Song

I would write a happy song,
Were it mine to choose;
Something bright to help along
Someone with the blues.
Something he could whistle, and
Maybe even sing;
Something for a Dixie band.
Gay, with lots of swing . . .
Songs of sadness but prolong
Loneliness and grief;
So, I'd write a happy song—
Something for relief.

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE

BANKRUPTCY

Bernard was becoming frantic. His grocery business was losing money, he was unable to pay his bills as they came due, and he couldn't get new credit. He finally faced the fact that he should abandon the grocery business and return to his job of milkman, but he had heard that if he did so his creditors would obtain judgement against him and tie up his wages. In desperation Bernard went to talk to a lawyer about bankruptcy.

Bernard's lawyer explained that bankruptcy laws are designed to assist unpaid creditors as well as overburdened debtors. The debtor is given an opportunity to obtain a fresh financial start by having his debts erased, while at the same time creditors are allowed to share on an equal, prorated basis in whatever assets the debtor has at the time the petition in bankruptcy is filed. All unsecured general creditors will be treated equally so they need not race one another thru the courts in order to be first in line for what might be salvaged.

Two Kinds

All bankruptcy proceedings are instituted in federal courts. They are of two general types, voluntary and involuntary.

When the debtor himself institutes the proceeding it is called voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Anyone who is unable to meet his obligations as they come due may bring a voluntary petition. In contrast an involuntary petition is brought by a creditor who forces his debtor into the proceeding. An involuntary petition may not be filed until the debtor has committed what is known as an "act of bankruptcy", such as making a preferential payment to one creditor.

If Bernard decides to bring a voluntary petition, he must prepare a list of all his assets, debts and creditors. He files this in an appropriate court and the clerk of the court sends a notice of the filing of the petition to all creditors listed and of the day set for the first meeting of creditors. The court will appoint a person to act as Bernard's "trustee in bankruptcy" and it is his duty to collect Bernard's assets. Each creditor must file a written statement setting out his claim against Bernard and a referee appointed by the court hears evidence as to the validity of any claim which is disputed by the trustee. Likewise, any creditor has the right to question Bernard under oath and to search for hidden assets not listed in the petition.

Distribution and Discharge

When Bernard's assets and debts have been collected and valued, and if the court is convinced the petition is an honest one, the referee orders the trustee to liquidate the assets and distribute them, prorata, to the creditors. Bernard is then formally discharged from his liabilities. If, however, it is discovered that he knowingly concealed any assets or engaged in some similar dishonesty the court may refuse to discharge him by denying the petition.

L-W Hands Rich 1st League Defeat

Knights Score 64 to 58 Upset Over Champions; First Loss for Rockets in 42 Conference Tilts

By FRED KIESLAR

The Knights of Lincoln-Way have done something no other basketball team in the Southwest Suburban conference has been able to do—they beat the champion Rockets of Rich 64 to 58. The game was played at Lincoln-Way last Friday night.

In the four years that the Rockets have been members of the conference they had run their victory string to 41 straight triumphs. Then on their 42nd appearance—the roof caved in.

Lincoln-Way entered the game with a record of five wins as against six defeats in conference play if there had been anyone who would have let sentiment overcome judgment to the extent that he would have risked money on the outcome of the meeting any book probably would have let him make his own odds.

One man, however, is now batting 1000 as a prophet—A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of Lincoln-Way. Whether he used a crystal ball, tea leaves, or is a born seer, first grade has not been determined but it is a fact that at school Friday the superintendent predicted that Rich had come to the end of the road, as far as the conference was concerned, and that the Knights were sure winners.

The Knights, it might be added, were winners all the way. They led 17 to 16 at the end of the first quarter, 37 to 32 at half-time, 50 to 47 at the close of the third quarter and outscored the Rockets 14 to 11 in the fourth quarter. The third quarter was the only one in which the Rockets outscored the Knights, 15 to 13.

With the game running against them the Rockets became too eager and began to press with the result that they were charged with 20 fouls and the Knights took advantage of the opportunity, sinking 20 free throws while Rich was able to convert but four such tosses into tallies.

Dick Tanis of Rich was high point man for the game with 24. Denny Wheeler, of Lincoln-Way was next with 22 points. Bruce Pradin, of the Rockets, was next in line with 17 while Henry Jessen, of L-W had 16 points.

Rich, of course, is conference champion with ample margin to spare but the Rockets were trying to keep their record clear for four years in a row and Friday's defeat was indeed bitter tea.

The Rich frosh-soph outfit walloped Lincoln-Way 65 to 45 after a close first half. The first quarter as even, 16 to 16 and at the close of the first half Rich was on top 29 to 25. In the second half, however, Rich outscored Lincoln-Way 17 to 8 in the third frame and 19 to 12 in the fourth. The Lincoln-Way frosh-soph finished the year with five wins and seven defeats in the league.

The game Friday marked the close of the conference cage season. The Knights' next appearance will be in the regional tournament at Joliet when they play Bloom of Chicago Heights next Tuesday night, March 5.

Lincoln-Way varsity won six games (all conference tilts incidentally) and lost 14 in their course of the regular season.

Zitter Brothers Represent L-W In State Mat Meet

The three Zitter brothers, Eddie, Woody, and Kenny, were the only wrestlers to represent Lincoln-Way at the sectional tournament at Blue Island.

Kenny, wrestling the 112 lb. class, lost by a pin to Stonitch of Joliet, Eddie, wrestling in the 120 lb. class, lost by a 14-7 to Traneria of Joliet. Both Stonitch and Traneria went ahead to win the quarter finals.

The biggest surprise of the evening was Woody Zitter, who decided Hosker, from Bloom, by a 9-4 score. Woody will return Saturday to wrestle again. Maybe he'll represent Lincoln-Way down at state again this year as he did last year. He took seventh in the state finals last year.

Lincoln-Way's varsity wrestling squad came in last in the conference wrestling tournament at Sandburg, but their frosh-soph team fared better. One of the boys, Bill Zelko, a freshman, won his first match in the tournament. He then came in the finals to take third place in the 138 pound class.

Organize Group to Push Baseball In Orland Park

The organization also plans to sponsor other sport activities. William Zinn, chairman of the committee in charge of raising funds, reported the ad book as receiving favorable acceptance and expects to distribute it by March 15. The committee also announced a game night will be held in the Legion hall March 7.

The next regular meeting of the association will be held Tuesday night, March 5 at the Legion hall. Fathers and others interested in the youth of the community are invited and welcome to attend, it was announced.

Famous Miler Will Address L-W Athletes

Gil Dodds, head coach for track and cross-country at Wheaton college, and former holder of the world's record for the indoor mile for 11 years, will speak at Lincoln-Way high school's annual all athletic banquet on March 13, 1957.

For the past eleven years, Dodds has directed Wheaton's highly-regarded thinclads and seen them win nine Illinois state cross-country championships and ten consecutive college conference of Illinois titles. His teams have taken the indoor Midwest Invitational, Central Collegiate, Central AAU and other meets.

Crusader teams are run annually in the Chicago Daily News relays where Dodds has often officiated and narrated the Banker's Mile race which is broadcast around the world.

Dubbed the 'Flying Parson' and 'King of the Milers' by newsmen who respected both his athletic achievements and his religious earnestness, Dodds climaxed a brilliant track career in 1948 when he flashed to a new standard for the indoor mile at the Millrose games in New York City's Madison Square Garden breaking his own mark set in 1944 in Chicago. He covered the distance in four minutes, five and three-tenths seconds. The record was broken in 1955 by West Santee of Kansas University who did it in 4:03.8. A week later Gunner Nielson of Denmark established a newer mark of 4:03.6. Dodds regards both better performances as "signs of progress." Highlights of Dodds' running career was the winning of the Sullivan award in 1943, presented to the amateur athlete who had done the most to advance the cause of sportsmanship during the year. In 1947 he received the annual track writer's trophy for outstanding contribution to the sport.

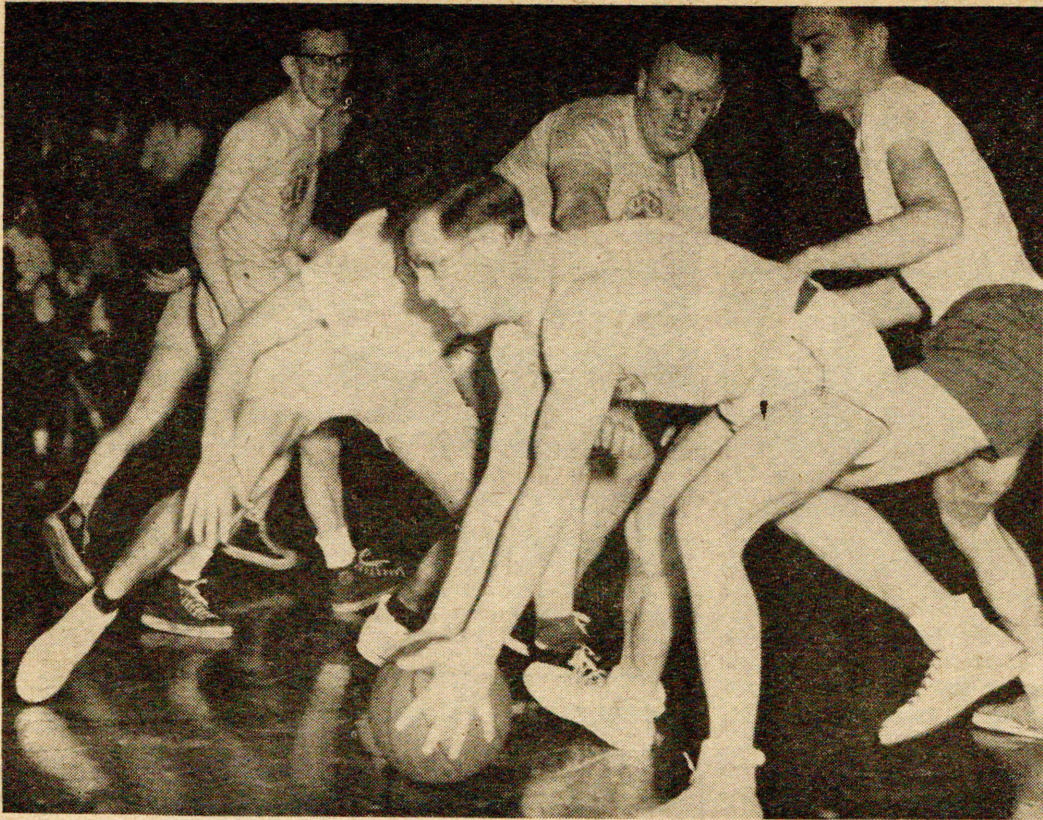

Dodds' average all-time record for eight years of big-time competition is slightly under 4:10. He ran more races under 4:10 than any other miler in history up to his time and won 30 out of 37 races in big-time running.

Since his retirement from amateur competition, Dodds has run exhibition races against top biddle distance men while traveling in the United States and around the world with gospel teams in the interest of Youth for Christ and the Pocket Testament League and independently. On a ten-year tapering down program, the powerfully-built Nebraskan still trains right along with his own squad.

Dodds' best known protege in recent years is Japanese star Kikui (Cookie) Moriya who won the National Collegiate two-mile in 1954.

Dodds is a graduate of Ashland college ('41), Ohio. He earned his bachelor of divinity degree from Gordon seminary ('45), Boston, Mass., and his master's degree in Christian education from Wheaton college ('48). He has added a master's degree in education from Northwestern university ('54).

Lions In Action Playing . . . What ARE They Playing?

Lions from Mokena, Frankfort, New Lenox and Manhattan played basketball for charity at the Lincoln-Way high school gym last Saturday night, raising $677 for same. And since the affair was for charity some of it should be extended to acceptance of the game as basketball and not football or wrestling. It must be admitted, however, that it is difficult to tell from the picture just what kind of a contest it really is. William Muehler, of Mokena, who is in the center foreground, appears getting ready to hand the ball back to an unidentified man at extreme right in which would be the quarterback position. If this man with raised knee is not playing quarterback then Mr. Muehler looks to be in for a tough time. If he straightens up with the ball in his hand Muehler probably will be called for a double dribble; if he doesn't straighten up he probably was punted into the end zone. The photographer was unable to get the finish of the play. Breaking thru tackle and sighting over Muehler's back is another Mokenan, Fred Clark, while at the extreme right is Glen Miers, a Mokena grade school teacher. Incidentally the hand and leg jutting out from behind Mr. Miers belong to someone else. John Oster, superintendent of New Lenox schools, who kept score, explained that each game was to last eight minutes. New Lenox beat Manhattan in the first round either 12 to 6 or 72 to 66, while Mokena defeated Frankfort, and then went on to encounter New Lenox for the championship which New Lenox won by a mind score of 88 to 83. Most of the baskets were made by the officials. In the grade school round robin preceding the Lions appearance Mokena wound up the winner. Manhattan beat New Lenox; St. Jude's of New Lenox beat Frankfort; Manhattan beat the Saints and Mokena beat Manhattan.

Braves End League Play With 74-68 Win Over Oak Lawn Five

By CRAIG FOSTER

The Bremen Braves bounced back from the defeat handed to them by Rich township high school with a 74-68 victory over Oak Lawn in a conference tussel last Friday night at Oak Lawn.

In the game which proved to be tougher than was expected, two happenings made the evening particularly worthwhile. First Bremen's ace junior forward Dale Hartwig won the S-W Suburban conference scoring title, making it the third year in a row a Bremen player has accomplished such a feat. He closed the season with 234 points for an average of 19.5 per game. He had a margin of 12 points over his closest competitor. Second, Bremen ended the season with a 7-5 record in a tie for second place. However, they finished very strong, winning five out of their last six conference games.

The game Friday was exciting; a tough uphill grind for the Braves, who were caught off balance by Oak Lawn's sizzling offense. They fought from a first half deficit to a six point lead at the end of the third quarter, and they traded baskets the rest of the way.

High point men for Oak Lawn were McGee with 30 and Bob Collins with 22. Hartwig was high man for Bremen with 19. Richard Tindall scored 18 and Jerry O'Neill collected 14.

In the frosh-soph game, Bremen dropped a 41-40 heartbreaker. A jump shot by Bob Rodger that dropped thru was just a fraction of a second too late. Rodger was high scorer for Bremen with 14 points.

On Saturday Bremen lost to Blue Island in a non-conference game played in the BCHS gym.

This was for the most part a losing battle against superior forces. Blue Island possessed a considerable margin in height with Ed Kissel, 6'3½" and Bill Rigg, 6'5". With Bill Birkhead not up to par, Bremen had little to cope with Blue Island's rebounding.

Blue Island jumped off to an early lead, and was never topped, except by a tremendous effort at the end of the half, by the slim margin of 32-30.

In the second half, Blue Island jumped off to a fast start and took over the lead again. They held it all the way.

Ed Kissel collected 26 points for Blue Island. Richard Tindall had 23 for Bremen, and Jerry O'Neill had a 16 point tally after a hot second half.

Bremen's frosh-soph came thru once again with a trimming for the Blue Island romper five with a 61-42 win the preliminary game.

Jim Mannaioni closed out the season with a wonderful performance collecting 17 points in the game. Bob Rodger also had 17 points and the 'Freshman Flash', Jim Mifflin, had 14.

The BCHS freshman team lost to Rich 60-35 on Saturday morning. However, they had already clinched the SSW conference title with previous victories.

SPORTS TALK

Jack Maypole

The fact that boats shown at the 58 major boat and sport shows are bigger than ever and have increased horsepower to drive them points up the fact that boating is now a family affair. The American family has discovered that boating and all the activities that go with it—fishing, water skiing, cruising and many others—make for ideal recreation.

But before you plank down your hard earned cash for a boat and motor—think a minute—are you getting what you need? Thousands of new outboarders could enjoy boating more if they were more selective in their choice of boats and motors.

Four things should be taken into consideration:

1. Family. It will determine the size of boat needed.
2. Financial condition. What boat can you safely afford?
3. Family interests. Cruising? Fishing? Water Skiing?
4. Boating water. Determines type of boat required.

If you have a large family you'll need a cruiser, camp boat, houseboat or perhaps a big runabout if you plan short trips on the water and no long vacation cruises. Of course you have to consider the family budget and how much it will stand. Today most outboard dealers are set up to finance their customers so the necessity of immediate cash is no problem.

Let your boating desires govern your selection when you buy a boat. If you intend to fish only, you'll want a boat designed for that purpose—but if you plan to fish on a river, get a boat designed for river fishing not one built for working large bodies of water. If all you want is to buzz around the lake after work and on week ends, you'd be foolish to buy a big outboard cruiser with cabin accommodation that run up the cost. Maybe you want a boat that can be used by you for fishing and by your children for water skiing. Then look for a utility craft fast enough to pull a skier, yet with a minimum amount of fixed obstruction to give you room enough to move around while fishing.

Consider these four points—then look for a boat that will strike the happy medium.

(Hear Jack Maypole daily, M-F over Radio Station WJJD at 8:40 a.m.)

There's room on the waterways for the guy who likes to fish and for the man who just wants to cruise around in a fancy boat. Both of these factions have an equal right to enjoy our lakes and streams. The angler got their first, and he should have the privilege of continuing to fish in peace and solitude. But, so does the pleasure-boater have the right to skim across the waves, lieisurely cruise the scenic shoreline or enjoy the thrills of water-skiing.

On lakes and rivers near cities, they to haven't been able to get along. Irate anglers complain they get 'buzzed' by youthful hot-rods in fast boats and by playful water skiers. Boaters, on the other hand, report stubborn fishermen blocking channels so they can't get by. As might be expected, problems result.

Because it is impractical and unconstitutional to ban either fishing or pleasure boating, a better solution is to simply 'get along'. This can be done. Certain areas have resolved these difference and proved that their lakes can be used for both purposes. In these cases, it was mutually agreed that anglers held squatters rights to the bay and coves and general possession of the lake early in the morning and late in the evening when fishing is best. The pleasure boaters, comprising the second shift, took over in the middle of the day and confined their activities to the middle of the lake.

It's a solution to a problem that might be causing your area some trouble. If so, why not try the above suggestion? Sure won't hurt!

Our sports question today comes from a lady—our first one, I believe. Here it is:

Q. A friend says that the husband of the late Babe Zaharias was a wrestler. I say he was a wrestling promoter. Who is right?

A. Technically speaking,—you are correct. George Zaharias is a wrestling promoter. He was active for many years, however, as a wrestler, using the name of "Crybaby".

And so, the lady who sent that in—Mrs. O. L.—will receive a sports gift. And you can win one, too, if we decided that your sports question has more general interest than all other we receive. Send yours in today. Here's the address: SPORTS TALK, Jack Maypole, 218 East Ontario St., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Brougham has had 10 years of experience in girl scouting. Cecil B. de Mille Tells Why He Made "The Ten Commandments"

BY CECIL B. deMILLE
(Paulist Feature Service)

A question often asked me is: "Why did you make 'The Ten Commandments'?" The cynical may think—to make money. Let me dispose of that right away. I shall receive no profit from the picture—that is, no financial profit. My share of the earnings will all go for charitable, religious, and educational purposes.

If I had made "The Ten Commandments" for my personal monetary gain, I could not ask you to be interested in it. But I do ask your interest, because I believe deeply that The Ten Commandments given on Mount Sinai are not simply a collection of laws.

They are THE Law. They are the expression of the mind of God for His creatures. They are the charter and guide of human liberty, for there can be no liberty without the law.

Some years ago the modern world defined God as a "religious complex" and laughed at the Ten Commandments as old-fashioned. Then thru the laughter, came the shattering thunder of great world wars, each more terrible than the last—and a blood-drenched, bitter, divided world, no longer laughing, cries for a way out.

There is but one way out. "I am the Lord Thy God. Thou shalt have no other gods before me." We may never have bowed before a calf of gold, but we may still worship Gold. We may never have bent the knee before the graven image of Hathor, but there is also a greven image on a dollar bill.

"Thou shalt not take the Name of the Lord thy God in vain." When I was a boy I thought that referred only to profanity. But we take the name of God in vain whenever we miss-use the power of God or whenever we say to Him, "Not THY will, but mine be done."

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy" fares none to well in the headlong rush of modern living. Mankind has coined countless proverbs and slogans about the value of time, but this Commandment reminds us that time belongs to God and that some of it should be set aside for Him.

And so it is with all the Commandments that govern and guide our relations with our fellow-men.

I hope that those who see our production will come from the theater not only entertained and filled with sight of big spectacle, but filled with the spirit of truth—that it will bring to its audience a better understanding of the real meaning of the pattern of life that God has set down for us to follow—that it will make vivid to the human mind its close relationship to the mind of God.

James Hall an Early Literary Figure in History of Illinois

BY JOHN W. ALLEN

(Southern Illinois University)

When 27 year old James Hall landed from an "ark" or keel-boat at Shawneetown in the early spring of 1820, Illinois acquired a valuable citizen, one who was to wield a considerable influence for several years. This influence was to be exerted in several fields, including law, state politics, the field of general education, and that of literature, where he was to become a pioneer.

Hall was born at Philadelphia in 1793. As a youth he received a liberal education. When the War of 1812 came, Hall volunteered for military service and shortly became a lieutenant of artillery. He remained in the military for several years, serving with the distinction under Stephen Decatur during that officer's daring campaign in Algiers.

In 1818 Hall resigned his commission and opened a law office in Pittsburgh, where he was only moderately prosperous. Hearing much about opportunities in Illinois, he decided to come to this state. He found Shawneetown a prosperous river town, and tells us that there were about 100 homes there, 12 stores, two excellent taverns, two banks, the United States land office, a postoffice, and a newspaper. Along with these there were the shops of tailors, shoemakers, bakers, cooper-hatters, blacksmiths, gunsmiths, cabinet makers, and other craftsmen essential to the pioneer community.

Hall states that there were five or six brick buildings several of frame and that the others were of logs. The streets were muddy and filled with pools of water left by the receding flood or by heavy rains. There was no sewage disposal, and much debris, including an occasional dead animal, littered the place. Shawneetown was then a typical booming river town, crude, disorderly, and dangerous as such towns often were. There were many fights of the biting, gouging kind. Despite these apparent handicap it was a center of trades and one of the state's important towns.

There was much about Shawneetown that appealed to Hall. He accordingly opened an office there and began to practice law. In addition to law, he became interested in newspaper work. On May 22, 1820, he purchased a half interest in the ILLINOIS GAZETTE, the second newspaper established in the state. His partner in this enterprise was Henry Eddy, a prominent lawyer, businessman and politician. This partnership remained effective until November 22, 1822 when political differences apparently induced them to dissolve it.

Hall began to attract attention because of his boldness and honesty. In the winter of 1821 he was appointed as prosecuting attorney for the ten southern counties of the state. This was a challenging assignment. Hall's comments concerning his observations and experiences furnish much insight into conditions then existing in Illinois. He tells that there were communities where horse-thefts seemed to rule, others where counterfeiting was much in vogue, and still others where the law abiding element had formed into a "regulator" group to promote the enforcement of the laws.

Hall's reputation as an able and willing prosecuting attorney continued to grow. He apparently worked at his job, even helping to apprehend and bring offenders into court. His recognition as a successful attorney was much increased by his prosecution of John Darr, who "not having the fear of God before his eyes, but being moved and seduced by the instigation of the Devil" had stabbed William Thomason to the depth of eight inches, thereby causing instant death." This crime was committed on Sept. 7, 1823. Justice must have been speedy then, for Darr was brought to trial nine days later and duly convicted of murder.

Hall was appointed as a circuit judge and began to serve in March, 1825, at Shawneetown. On May 14, 1825 Shawneetown was honored by a visit from General Lafayette. Judge Hall had a prominent part in the ceremonies connected with the visit, delivering the very able welcome address that was repeated by C. K. Roedel on May 14, 1925 when the reception of 1825 was re-enacted.

On Feb. 12, 1827, Hall became state treasurer, defeating Col. Abner Field the other aspirant. Field became very angry at the politicians whom he charged with betraying him, burst into the room where they were still assembled, and before they could escape had soundly trashed four of them. Politics in those days must have been rugged.

While serving as state treasurer, Hall and others on Dec. 8, 1827, formed the Antiquarian and Historical Society of Illinois. Hall was elected its first president. Because of the difficulties of attending meetings and because of the lack of funds, this first organization did not survive for long.

Near the close of 1828 Hall published the first annual or gift book issued west of Ohio. This publication of 324 pages

3 by 5½ inches, bound in glossy red silk, contained 58 selected articles. His next literary publication was the Illinois Monthly Magazine that appeared in Oct. 1829, being the first periodical issued in Illinois.

Hall wrote many articles and books. Among these were: "Tales of the Border," "Sketches of the West," "History of the Indian Tribes," and "Letters from the West." Hall's writings perhaps more than any other persons of that time, served to call to attention the stories and legends of the then West. They are still source material for those who would understand the West as it was 150 years ago.

In 1833 Hall removed to Cincinnati where he served as cashier of a bank and continued to write. He died in 1868.

is Eric Enblom, a candidate for village clerk.

A mayor, clerk, three trustees a police magistrate and two village library trustees are to be elected.

A full ticket has been entered in the contest under the name, People's, and is for the most part made up of incumbents.

Heading the ticket and unopposed on any independent slate is W. R. Schussler, Jr., who is up for reelection as mayor.

Kenneth Halvarson, a member of the grade school board, is candidate for clerk.

The three trustees whose terms expire this spring, I. A. Cleveland, Joseph Lebens and Earl F. Moore, are all candidates for reelection on the People's ticket. Police Magistrate Albert F. Wheeler is on the ticket for reelection as police magistrate.

The two candidates for the library board, whose names will appear on the People's ticket, are Dorothy L. Davidson, 9887 W. 145th st., and Ruth P. Geisinger, 9860 W. 144th st.

Should the independents decide to run together they could appear on say, By Petition ticket. Should each go his own way there could be three By Petition tickets, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

There will be one polling place for the election, the village hall, and voters must be registered. Voters who are not registered may do so up to March 18 at the election department of the office of County Clerk Edward J. Barrett in the courthouse in Chicago.

Last date for registering for the town election is March 4.

PICK TWO NOMINEES—

Kenneth A. Halvorson, of Orland Park, administrative assistant the vice president in charge of manufacturing of the Pullman Standard Car company who is a member of the Orland Park grade school board; Kenneth L. Baxter, Palos Heights, in advertising research for Swift & Co., and Hans Hanel, Palos Heights director of equipment standards for Continental Can research center.

Mr. McBurney is manager of the Midwest office of the National Council of the YMCA in Chicago. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois with a bachelor of science degree in architecture.

Mr. Yarbrough is an ordained minister but is employed as a teacher in Parker high school, Chicago. He is completing his first three year term on the board.

The other member of the board whose term expires, Ralph L. Town, of Orland, is not a candidate for re-election. He is a candidate in the town election.

The required nominating petitions for Yarbrough and McBurney have been filled out and was filed with the clerk of the board yesterday, Feb. 27, the first day for filing such petitions. The last day for filing is March 23.

The caucus system adopted in the Sandburg district is used in other localities and is advocated locally by the Sandburg PTA.

Of course, it was pointed out, the action by the caucus does not close the door to anyone who wishes to be a candidate for the high school board. A person who is a citizen with the requisite period of residence—a year in the state, 90 days in the county and 30 days in the district, can take out petitions, get them filled out, filed and thus become a candidate.

Under the plan the organizations who send delegates to the caucus are expected to support the caucus nominees and thus, theoretically, the caucus candidates should have an advantage over independent candidates.

Will Exchange Pulpits at Midweek Lenten Services

Special midweek Lenten services, beginning March 6, Ash Wednesday, will be held at St. John's Lutheran church, 183rd street; Trinity Lutheran church, 159th and Oak Park avenue, Tinley Park; and Christ Lutheran church, Orland Park.

The pastors of these churches—Rev. Henry Meyer; Rev. Carl Hoeh, and the Rev. Adolf Lach will exchange pulpits for these services. In a series of sermons based on St. John's Gospel the Christ of Salvation will be presented as He walked the road of suffering from Gethsemane to Calvary.

For hundreds of years the Christian church has set aside the six weeks before Easter and has designated them "the Lenten season." During this period special emphasis is placed upon the suffering and death of Our Savior Jesus Christ. God and man meet at the foot of the Cross. Everyone is invited to these special devotions on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

Extend Deadline For Vehicle Tags

Because March 1, tomorrow, falls on Friday, a day when the Orland village hall is not open for business, the deadline for buying village vehicle stickers without penalty has been extended to Tuesday, March 5. Village Clerk Bretland Blair is at the village hall Tuesday evenings, beginning at 7 o'clock. The office is open until 8:30 o'clock.

Plan Chili Supper To Aid School For Retarded Children

Parents of children attending the school for retarded children will sponsor a home made chili supper, Saturday, March 16, for the benefit of the school. It will be held in the VFW hall, on Wolf road in Mokena with serving from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. The sponsors believe attendance is one small way in which all can help in this cause.

There will be a special prize awarded. Tickets may be bought at Liston's Sweet Shop in Mokena.

James A. Garfield, who died at 49, lived the shortest life of any U. S. President.

LEGION POST—

ers want the property for garage purposes. Under the new zoning ordinance in Orland Park garages and used car lots are provided for but there is no place under the code for a junk yard.

John Arnold told the village board Monday night that if he were permitted to develop the property a part of the business would be the salvaging of auto parts, altho he stated there would be no burning of cars on the premises as is the case in most junk yards.

Arnold said he would also operate a garage and expected to deal in used cars. Presumably Cooper would want to do the same thing, it was said.

Village board members told Arnold they would study his request and give him a decision, probably in two weeks. The board is preparing to get as much information as possible on the factors that make up the definition of a junk yard.

The present Legion club rooms are approximately 40 by 80 feet in area. The post is of the opinion that a smaller building would be more adaptable to their needs and purposes. Proposed plans for a new building call for a one-story brick or masonry structure with a basement and approximately 24 by 38 feet in size.

Thirty three states had prohibition before the 18th Amendment was adopted.

John Adams, who died at 90, lived longer than any other U. S. President.

Resigns From Board

Because he will soon have a heavy night school schedule in addition to his regular work day and will not be able to give of his time to school and community problems as in the past, Edward G. Mrosek, president of the Maue school board, announced his intention to resign as a member of the board at a meeting held in the school Friday evening. His resignation will become effective April 1.

In the April school elections, voters in the Maue school district will vote for two candidates. One for a regular three year term and one to fill Mr. Mrosek's unexpired term of which one year remains.

Work on Road

Friday and Saturday were, in a way, red letter days for residents of 102 ave. and 171st. east of 102 ave. Friday, bright and early, road men appeared and began work on the roads. It was also gratifying to see the grader working over the "Cinder Road" which is that stretch of 171 st. which connects 102 ave. with 104 ave. Upkeep of this two block stretch of road, as has been petitioned, would, in bad weather, save mothers of school children, living east on 171 st. two miles of daily travel when school is in session.

Better Mail Service

Re-routing of mail delivery which brings service as far as 171 st. on 102 ave. was begun Saturday. Families living along 102 ave., are enjoying the convenience of mail delivered to boxes placed in front of their homes, while for those living east of 102nd ave. on 171st., which is a dead end street, mail service has been brought a half mile closer. To the progressive minded in the district concerned, the re-routing of mail is considered a big step forward in the development of the district and a note of appreciation has been sent to Jim Davidson, postmaster, who has given petitioners for the re-routing of service, full cooperation.

167th St. at 102 ave. appears rather barren now that only one mail box stands where many were lined up one after the other before. It has suddenly been realized that the boxes had served as a sort of marker for 102 ave., and, as Mrs. Albert Reeves has observed, "We'll have to ask the highway department to put up a side street marker now."

Den 5 of pack 218, met in regular meeting at the John Cruise home Tuesday after school. The flag ceremony was practised in preparation for the March meeting when den 5 will be responsible for the posting of colors. Plans for the Indian village, a new project, were discussed.

Members of the Orland unit of the Cook County Home bureau were guests of Mrs. Nick Cacic at a regular meeting which was held in her home Thursday evening. Mrs. Claradehl Upham, home advisor, gave an interesting lesson on minor repairs in the home.

Present were Mrs. Oscar Mack Mrs. George Sayers, Miss Clara Myrick, Mrs. Henry Andresen, Miss Mary Ginder, Mrs. John Lohmann, Mrs. Ray Myrick, Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Mrs. Sigmond Bukowski, Mrs. Roy Loeb, Mrs. Frances Beck, and Mrs. Charles Bezdek.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Andresen and Mrs. Bukowski.

4H News

A meeting of the Orland Boys 4H club was held at Maue school Monday evening, Feb. 18 at 8 p. m. The meeting had been postponed from a previous date because of conflicting high school and church activities.

Bob Stellwagen gave a talk on dairy and Arthur Maue gave a talk on beef. Ronald Sons and Rodney Knieriem gave a demonstration on Keeping Fit.

A new member, Ralph Bueschel, was welcomed into the club.

Thinking that Monday evening meetings might take up time needed for study by high school members, Mr. Mrosek requested opinions as to what would be the most convenient day of the week to meet. It was decided to continue to meet Mondays because most members prefer-ed to keep week ends free for study in preparation for Monday tests.

A movie will be shown at the next meeting. Arthur Maue, Jr. leader, will be responsible for the selection and the showing of movies for club meetings. The next meeting will be held at the school, Monday evening, March 11, at 8 pm.

Refreshments were provided by Roy Bettenhausen and Edward Mrosek Jr. —Arthur Walker, reporter.

State Secretary Puts in New System To Improve Service

Secretary of State, Charles F. Carpentier has announced a general reorganization of supervision in his office designed to increase efficiency by establishing a "chain of command" type of supervisory system.

The principal feature of the new plan is the provision for six intermediate supervisors, each of whom will be responsible for a group of divisions. Under the old plan, the heads of 19 separate divisions reported directly to the secretary of state or the assistant secretary of state, making efficient supervision extremely difficult, secretary Carpentier said.

The new organization table, the result of more than one and one-half years of study, provides for a separation of the operating divisions of the office from the staff and service divisions.

Business and Finance

Maurice P. Angland

The next several months seem likely to see some rather stubborn labor struggles for wage and benefit increases in the face of consumer resistance to constantly rising price levels. For some time industrialists have avoided an expensive fight with powerful labor organizations and increases which exceed the productivity of the workers, has merely been passed on in the form of increased prices to the consumer.

Considerable consumer resistance to price increases while costs of labor and materials have continued to rise, has brought about a profit-squeeze to many industries. The ease with which cost increases can be passed on in price increases varies considerably with industries.

The retail trade such as grocery and department stores, have been hit in this consumer resistance to price increases. Store clerks who were making $31 a week about 10 years ago, now average about $64 a week. Truck drivers average about $88 a week against $43 in 1946. In addition to direct wage increases, "fringe benefits" have been added. The trend in grocery retailing has been to larger units with higher total sales volume, to absorb added costs of doing business. The super markets count on a large volume of business at a small profit margin—often as little as one cent per dollar of sales.

Small companies have been hurt most by rising costs. The magazine U.S. News & World Report recently made a tabulation of current profits—after taxes—per sales dollar. This table shows firms with total assets of less than $250 thousand return 2.3c per sales dollar; those with total assets of $5 million to $10 million a profit of 4.0c; those between $50 million and $100 million 5.4c; and those with assets of over $100 million show 6.9c per sales dollar.

Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel reports his company's total costs per employee hour—including wages, materials, taxes, replacement of worn out machinery—have increased at the rate of 8.7 per cent every year since 1940 while total production per man hour has risen less than 3 per cent. The company has raised its prices an average of 5.5 percent per year which, of course, is slightly less than the difference between costs and production.

Cost pinches are heaviest on smaller firms as wage rates set by union contracts, are as high for smaller firms as they are for the biggest. The smaller firms have less capital to spend for cost-cutting equipment. In a 'tight' money market it is also harder for them to borrow.

Again, the cost-price squeeze is not hitting all industries equally. It is expected that the worst of the 'tight' money market is over. It is not expected, however, that interest rates will decline much from this level.

A big item to consider in any appraisal of the business picture is that in 1929 government (federal, state and local) accounted for less than 10 per cent of totals spent whereas in 1956, government spending accounted for more than 25 per cent of total spending.

Too Much Milk Spoils the Price PMA Officials Tell Dairymen

Officials of Pure Milk Ass'n. told 300 members of PMA's District 8 who met at Sterling on Feb. 11 that dairy farmers themselves and their organization must find some way to cut back rapidly increasing milk supplies in order to get an improvement in farm milk prices.

Both W. E. Winn, Richmond, Ill., president of the association and A. L. McWilliams, general manager, said that abundant supplies beyond the Chicago market and national needs are making it difficult for dairy farmers to get price concessions from the United States department of agriculture and from the dealers with whom dairy farmers bargain.

Winn and McWilliams spoke at the annual meeting of the district which is one of 16 in Pure Milk association which has 14,500 members in Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana.

Winn told the dairy farmers that "economists predictions we will have to live with dairy surpluses for the next 20 years if we continue to produce as efficiently as at present paint a gloomy picture for us unless we find some means to handle these surpluses so that a relatively small percentage will not continue to have such a disastrous affect on our price as in the past five years."

He continue: "Nationally there are several plans being considered by members of the Congress that would place a quota on dairy producers to stop the extra flow of milk that is depressing our price. All producers would be assessed about 10 cents a hundred, nationally, to handle the disposition of surpluses that might accumulate even under such a plan."

A. L. McWilliams told the dairy farmers of PMA accomplishments in 1956 and also explained to them a voluntary production control plan being considered by Pure Milk Association for all Chicago Market dairy farmers.

He said PMA's successful negotiation of a price increase for all dairy farmers in the Chicago market last spring was the chief reason why Chicago market producers received a net blend that was 15 cents a hundred higher than in 1955. The negotiated price increase, applied in the months of April, May, June and July to Class I and II prices, the Grade A premum umdH pushed the Grade A premium over condensery prices to 67 cents last year, the highest since 1952.

He said also that PMA's maintenance of a substantial premium in its own 15 receiving plants in Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana brought in about 3 million dollars more to dairy farmers and helped to keep a market for many can shippers.

"We've had considerable pressure from dealers and others to lower or eliminate the present bulk tank premium which now averages about 20 cents a hundred," he said. "However, your board of directors has taken the position that the holding of a bulk tank premium is one way in which dairy farmers can get additional money out of the market."

He continued, "I say to you that can shippers have just as much at stake in holding a substantial bulk tank premium as the bulk shippers do when the premium is lowered to a very small figure or when it is eliminated completely, the can shippers go out with the premium."

"Pure milk assoiation has an obligation to its members to keep can outlets open in its plant or to find can outlets for those members regardless of the pressures of bulk tank development. Holding the line on the bulk tank premium is one way in which we can continue to help both bulk and can shippers and get more money for dairy farmers."

McWilliams lashed out at the attitude of many dairymen who are not members of Pure Milk Association or any organized group on the Chicago market for "their lack of responsibility to the market and to their neighbor dairy farmers. They are getting many of the benefits that you members do without making any contribution to your effort to make this a better market with a better price for all dairy men."

McWilliams explained a voluntary production control plan being considered by the Association's Board of Directors. It was a submitted by a member. Under the plan, a producer would agree to cut his production, ship only the percentage of Class I and II requirements of the market. That figures about 70 per cent of all milk on the market and is the milk used for bottling. For this production, the producer would get an average of the Class I and II prices. In 1956 this would have figured about $4 a hundred. Anyone not going on the plan would get a blend price for all the milk he wanted to ship.

As more producers would go on the plan, the Class I and II price average would go up because there would be less milk on the market. A producer going on the plan could gain from 30 to 50 cents a hundred depending on how many producers went on the plan also.

The PMA Manager indicated all districts had approved the idea of such a plan so far. It will be brought up for consideration at the Association's annual meeting in Chicago, March 23.

Can Buy Beans And Beethoven At Same Time

Chicago area residents are now able to assemble a diversified record library at supermarket prices by buying high-fidelity long-playing disks in 250 National Food stores.

"The lady of the house can now Buy Strauss with her stringbeans" said Franklin Hobbs, vice president of Masterseal Records, which will release two albums every other week for the next 15 weeks for exclusive sales in the National Food Supermarkets.

Highlights from the Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady" sung by Lanny Ross, will be the first release followed by Tchaikovsky, Violin Concerto, Havana ... 2 a.m., Nutcracker Suite, Let's All Dance to Rock and Roll. The rest of the library of high-fidelity pressings that reproduce the full, audible range of frequencies, will be Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1, Strauss Waltzes, Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, Polka Party under the baton of Frankie Yankovic and Victor Zembruski. Yankovic is a great favorite of folks in hundreds of cities including Milwaukee and Chicago. Also included in the low-cost record library are A Midsummer Night's Dream, Honky Tonkin, Scheherazade, All Star Jazz Session, New World Symphony, and Hi-Fi Organ Moods.

The work of some of the world's most prominent soloists and conductors is featured in many of the Masterseal albums. The International Foundation for Music Appreciation, non-profit organization established for the purpose of bringing good music into a greater number of American homes, gave the impetus for this unique record merchandising plan.

Unpasteurized Milk Dangerous, Expert Warns

People who live in Illinois cities can feel safe when they drink milk.

E. O. Herreid, University of Illinois dairy technologist, explains that all milk sold in Illinois for drinking must be pasteurized. And the pasteurization process kills all harmful micro-organisms.

But many farm families drink home farm milk that hasn't been pasteurized and may contain harmful diseases.

Farm people who still drink raw milk take the chances of getting such diseases as tuberculosis and undulant fever, which can be transmitted in the milk from diseased cows, Herreid warns.

There's a simple solution, though: Farm homemakers can protect the health of their families by pasteurizing raw milk right in the home.

Herreid suggests three way to pasteurize milk: in the bottle, in a double boiler, or in a batch-type home pasteurizer.

If you use the "bottle method", place bottles of milk in water and heat to 145 degrees for 30 minutes. Then replace the hot water with cold water until the milk is cool.

If you use the "double-boiler method," just pour the milk in and put on the cover. Heat over hot water until the thermometer registers 165 degrees. Then let cool.

THE ORLAND PARK HERALD

nometer registers 165 degrees. Then let cool.

The third way would be to buy an electric "batch-type home pasteurizer" with a capacity of two gallons or more. It would be nearly automatic, and you could pasteurize as little as two quarts of milk with only a little attention. Operating directions are provided by the manufacturer.

Law On The Farm

By NORMAN KRAUSZ

The Fair Labor Standards Act is a federal law that establishes maximum work hour and minimum wages for workers engaged in or producing goods for interstate commerce. Here is what this law says about child labor:

1. NO CHILD UNDER 14 MAY BE EMPLOYED.

2. No child under 16 years of age may work at a job or in the work place of a manufacturing, mining or processing operation; or in transportation, communication, public utilities, construction, warehousing or storage; or as a public messenger or in tending power-driven machinery other than office machinery.

3. No child under 16 years may work on a farm during school hours.

4. The law does not apply to children under 16 working on their parents' or guardians' farms.

Illinois also has a law covering child labor. It provides that:

1. Minors under 16 years of age shall not be employed in hazardous occupations, such as in mines or with sawmills or other power machinery.

2. Minors between 14 and 16 may be employed at non-dangerous work if a certificate of employment is first secured from the county superintendent of schools. Such occupation must be carried on outside of school hours.

3. Children of any age working for their parents on their own farm are exempt from the child labor law. Children over 14 years also are exempt if they do farm work for others outside of school hours.

"We're shopping for auto insurance," he said. "And we'd like to get your rate. Naturally we want the cheapest insurance we can get."

"Let me ask you a few questions," I replied. "If you were going to bail out of an airplane, would you want the cheapest parachute on the market?"

"No," he roared. "Well," I said, "if you were sailing in a boat would you insist on the cheapest life preserver?"

His face turned red. "Of course not," he blurted. "Then why try to shop for the very cheapest auto insurance," I said. "You see it too is designed primarily for emergency use. If you have an accident, and your company short changes you, it's too late to start over. You might be in legal hot water up to your neck."

He smiled. "I get the point. I can see that the best is the kind to own."

"Yes," I answered, "and it pays to place your auto insurance with a local agency that can offer you dependable and fair service. We can offer you all of these important features."

FARM NEWS

For Cook County
by
W. F.
Whiteside

assistant farm adviser

National 4H club week, March 2-9, will be observed by Cook County 4H members. A county wide rally will be held March 7 in the Homewood Village hall. 4-H'ers and prospective 4-H'ers will get together for fun and fellowship. Everyone is welcome to attend the rally.

The 4H Federation conducts the rally. Vice president Bill Lorenz, Chicago Heights, has committees making the preparations.

Theme of the 1957 National 4H Club Week is "Improving Family and Community Living." This means that 4H members will work together this year for better farms, better homes, better schools and churches in their own communities.

The South Cook Soil Conservation District annual meeting was well attended. Many favorable comments were received about the excellent presentation by the speaker, Mr. F. A. Weidhuner.

Two directors were elected to the board, Melvin Rohling, Matteson, will serve another term and Ray Knieriem, Mokena, will begin his first term on the board. Both these gentlemen are dedicated to the cause of Soil Conservation in Southern Cook County.

Farmers have until March 8 to sign up for the corn acreage reserve program. Under this program, farmers may retire acres from production and receive a specified payment per acre.

The maximum acreage which may be placed in the reserve is 30% of the farms allotment or 20 acres whichever is greater. In no case will acreage in excess of the farms allotment be placed in the reserve.

I urge all Cook County farmers who received the hay and pasture surveys forms to complete and return them to the Illinois Crop Reporting Service. Your cooperation will be appreciated and the information will help establish the needs and progress of pasture improvement.

How important is safety around your farm and home? O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois Safety Specialist asks these questions: Did you ever-

Try to tie your shoe laces with one arm in a sling?

Try to see straight and clearly after an eye injury?

Try to button your coat with burned fingers?

Try to walk with an injured foot?

Safety pays all ways.

Now is the time to consider fertilizing your lawn with a 10-10-10 or similar readily available fertilizer. You may use up to twenty pounds per 1,000 square feet.

The hockberry makes a very good replacement tree for the American elm. It is a fast grower, has a wide spreading branching pattern and is long lived.

Two recent University of Illinois publications which will be of interest to farmers are "Potassium on Illinois Soils," Circular 765, and Circular 767, "Pest Control in Commercial Fruit Plantings."

These publications are available at my office. I will be glad to discuss them with you.

Motor Club Opposes Plan to Tax Car Owners to Support CTA

The Chicago Motor club has announced that it will oppose any tax on motorists to subsidize the Chicago Transit Authority.

Charles M. Hayes, Motor club president, said that auto owners already bear more than a fair share of the tax burden.

"If subsidies are necessary," he said, "the entire public should be taxed."

Adding 1 cent to the state motor fuel tax and diversion of present highway funds to finance rapid transit construction have been proposed as a means of supplying funds for CTA capital expenditures and right-of-way maintenance.

Hayes said enactment of such legislation in Illinois could result in loss of federal aid funds for highway construction. He said the Hayden Cartwright Act of 1934 authorizes curtailment of highway federal aid in states which divert taxes on motorists to non-highway purposes.

The CTA has discussed seeking amendment of both state and federal laws to obtain broader use of present gas tax funds and to match any new tax income for transit.

But Hayes said taking money from motorists for a transit subsidy would be unfair even if it were legal.

"Taxes on motorists," he said, "should be dedicated to building highways for the movement of people and goods—pedestrians, passenger cars, buses and trucks. Such taxes never were intended to provide exclusive right-of-way for mass transit. The Hayden-Cartwright Act specifically states that it is unfair and unjust to tax motor vehicle transportation unless the proceeds of such taxation are applied to the construction, improvement, or maintenance of highways."

"The motorist now is assuming more than his fair share of the tax burden. The diversion of gas tax funds, which are paid by the motorist, is illogical, and any added tax is fundamentally unsound."

Hayes said if a new law is passed granting tax authority to counties and municipalities, downstate motorists as well as Cook County residents "face the threat of additional burdens in their own localities," adding:

"Those who propose the use of gasoline taxes to subsidize the Chicago Transit Authority would do well to look elsewhere for funds if they do not wish to endanger the entire Illinois highway program."

He said that even though the tax would be paid only in those localities affected, "all motorists—all the people of Illinois—certainly would be affected if there were any curtailment of the state's highway program."

Postmasters Urge Use of Zone Numbers

Postmasters in the area join in urging mailers to use postal zone numbers when writing to individuals or firms in large cities.

"Nation-wide experience of the Post Office Department show," they said, "that some types of mailings gain as much as 8 or 10 hours by using zone numbers, because zoned mail can be sorted more quickly. When you use the postal delivery zone system you reduce the number of times your mail is handled and thereby expedite its delivery."

The delivery zone system has been in use in this country since 1943 and has proved itself by many years of service, postal authorities stated, pointing out that the 106 major cities zoned for delivery handle about half the nation's annual mail load of 58 billion pieces.

Midwestern cities where zone numbers should be included are: Chicago, Evansville, Indianapolis and South Bend, Ind.; Des Moines and Sioux City, Ia.; Kansas City and Wichita, Kan.;

Louisville, Ky.; Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and Lansing, Mich.; Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.; Kansas City, and St. Louis, Mo.; Akron, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo and Youngstown, O.; Madison and Milwaukee, Wisc.

Area postmasters recommend the following specific steps for the benefit of local mailers:

(1) Mailers who send considerable mail to major cities, where zone numbers are in use, may obtain zone directories for the cities by writing Division of Post Office Services, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C.

(2) When writing your correspondence ask what their postal delivery zone number is, and if they have one always use it.

(3) Business leaders are urged to issue instructions to all typists and personnel engaged in correspondence to use zone numbers wherever necessary.

(4) If you have any questions about zoning, ask your postmaster.

Barrett Sends Out Hurry Call For Bookkeepers

(CNS)—If you're a bookkeeper, Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett needs you.

He has issued a civic appeal for help in turning out about 1.5 million tax bills this year. This includes 1.2 million real estate tax bills and 300,000 on personal property.

"We will do our best to get the personal property and real estate tax bills out by April 30," Barrett said Wednesday after meeting with department heads or representatives of the county treasury, assessor, board of tax appeals, and county central service department.

To help complete the gigantic tax job, Barrett appealed to banks, utilities and insurance companies to furnish the county available bookkeeping machine operators.

He said they could work any hours of the day or night, seven days a week, part time or full time, "at standard operators' rates."

The county has 25 bookkeeping machines and 32 full-time operators. But more help is needed if bills are to be out by April 30. Bookkeepers can apply at room 1021, County building, Clark and Randolph sts., Chicago, Barrett said.

Tax bills usually are mailed April 1, but Barrett said the late release of the state multiplier was one big factor in pushing the county tax bill calendar behind schedule.

The multiplier (a complicated formula used in figuring taxes) was announced this week. Usually, it's available by mid-January, Barrett said. It is fixed by the state.

Of an estimated seven million farm dwellings in the U.S., 95 per cent are built of wood.

Navy Recruiter In Mokena Every Friday Morning

The navy recruiting station at the post office building, Joliet announced today that young men enlisting in the navy this month will have the opportunity of selecting "Sunny San Diego" for their recruit training.

Chief A.O.P. Nickelson, recruiter in charge of the Joliet area stated that this policy is strictly voluntary and that men may choose Great Lakes if they prefer.

This new policy is in addition to the other benefits offered a young man enlisting in the navy today. The "Buddy Plan" is still available for men desiring San Diego, so that if several young men want to get together and go to "Sunny San Diego" and train together they may do so, by contacting the navy recruiting representative. He is in Mokena every Friday morning at the postoffice building from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Hog Cholera Stubborn Foe

Don't "cut costs" at the expense of vaccinating your hogs against cholera, warns Dr. R. D. Hatch of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

Dr. Hatch points out that, despite improved vaccines developed in recent years, hog cholera is still a stubborn foe to the swine farmer. He says it is almost 100 per cent fatal, and there are so many ways that hogs can be exposed to the virus that it's impossible to "stop up all the cracks."

For example, hog cholera can be introduced into a herd by dirt from the farmer's shoes, from a bone brought from a neighbor's home by a dog, from litter thrown from a stock truck and various other ways. Even improper handling and use of the virus for treating pig may start an outbreak of cholera. So vaccination by a veterinarian remains the surest way to prevent infection.

With baby pigs about to arrive, it's time for the swine grower to begin thinking about vaccination too. It's usually best to vaccinate pigs around weaning time. The veterinarian can determine whether the pigs are in condition for vaccination and what is the proper vaccine to use.

Dr. Hatch says there are now three or four types of vaccine, all of which will give satisfactory results if properly used on healthy swine.

Proper sanitation and management will also help to prevent hog cholera. Be careful not to expose healthy animals to the disease by buying infected or exposed hogs and adding them to your herd.

They Say Taxes Can't Be Cut!

Uncle Sam is living beyond his means. He is spending unnecessary dollars that he takes out of the pockets of American taxpayers, causing inflation that cheapens the dollars that the taxpayers have left to spend. Let's look at some facts:

1. Since World War II Uncle Sam has spent 494 billion dollars.
2. Our yearly interest payments are now $7.4 billion—$41.87 for every man, woman, and child in America.
3. The 1958 budget calls for $71.8 billion—$3.1 billion more than last year. This does not include $1.4 billion to be spent for highways.

4. Practically all of the extra $4.5 billion is to go for "new welfare programs", "to assist small business", "to encourage housing", "to aid education", "to enforce integration", "to construct huge public works", etc.—not one of which has anything to do with "national defense."

To do these things Uncle Sam will gouge out of the average worker who earns $12 per day, $3.75 per day in taxes. Your 8-hour day will be divided up as follows:

For Taxes	2 hrs. 26 mins.
Food	1 hr. 26 mins.
Housing	1 hr. 40 mins.
Clothing	37 mins.
Transportation	43 mins.
Medical Serv.	23 mins.
Recreation	20 mins.
Misc.	25 mins.

Yet they say taxes cannot be cut!

Let's Practice What We Preach
President Eisenhower warns big business, big labor, and the common run-of-the-mill citizen that unless they watch their step, hold down wages, prices, and spending to head off inflation, HE will have to invoke controls over wages, prices, and tredi. Yet big government under President Eisenhower refuses to cut its spending, refuses to tighten its belt, refuses to set an example to big business, big labor, and the common citizen. Instead big government under President Eisenhower proposes to spend $4.5 billion more next year, and $3 billion more this year than it spent last year. What are these extra billions to be spent for?

Additional Welfare Expenditures	$ 200,000,000
Additional Farm Subsidies	1,000,000,000
Additional School Aid	600,000,000
Additional Foreign Aid	1,000,000,000
Additional Public Works	300,000,000
Additional Public Highways	1,400,000,000

Additional Total Expenditures ... $4,500,000,000
Should not big government do its part to head off threatened inflation? Should not big government practice what it preaches?

"What Is Sauce for the Goose"

Senator Knowland says the UN cannot consistently apply economic and political sanctions against Israel for refusing to withdraw her forces from Egyptian territory if the UN does not apply sanctions to:

(a) Russia—for refusing to acknowledge, much less obey, ten UN resolutions condemning Soviet aggression against Hungary: Invasion and butchering tens of thousands of Hungarian citizens.

(b) India—for refusing to obey UN decisions concerning India's Kashmir dispute with Pakistan.

Senator Knowland declares it is "immoral and unsupportable" for the UN to threaten little Israel with economic and political sanctions, yet take no action against big Russia and big India. All three nations are members of the UN and as members have agreed to abide by the UN decisions.

"What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander!" Senator Knowland is absolutely right in his stand. The UN should treat all its members alike or forfeit its standing among nations.

ALUMINUM VS EGGS

If hard-cooker eggs have darkened your aluminum utensils, you can clean them in quick order by filling the utensil with a solution of hot water and cream of tartar. Use one or two tablespoons of cream of tartar to one quart of water. Bring to a boil and let simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Or you can clean the utensils with a commercial soap-filled steel wool pad. Very fine, or 000, steel wool is also effective.

Church News

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles prepared by local clergy designed to produce greater church attendance between now and Easter.

The biggest job in America today might very easily be the job of raising our children. In fact, it is so big that there are bound to be moments when the size of the job may scare us a little. We will need all the wisdom and strength of character we can master, so that we can be living examples of the standards which we set for our youngsters.

We should not fail to use fully the great spiritual resources of our churches for help with this job.

Going to religious services with our children is the greatest gift we can give them during their formative years.

"The Answer Is God." Worship him together with your children.

Thought for the Day

Thursday, February 28

Read Romans 12:1-8.

Thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly. (Philemon 1.)

Alan was only five years old, but at home, at kindergarten, and in Sunday school, he often heard about the poor children in other lands who did not have enough food, clothes, or proper shelter. He became concerned about them.

When his Bible school teacher handed him a small rice bag to fill, he quickly went to his own toy cash register, opened the drawer, and took out the largest coins. Then he passed the rice bag to all members of his family and among his friends. He was a happy little boy when his rice bag was filled. He not only gave joyfully from his own meager savings, but also enlisted the aid of others in order that some child unknown to him might be helped.

People all over the world are gladly giving of their substance because they believe in someone or some worthy cause. They give freely, out of compassionate hearts. As the result of such sharing with others, happiness comes as a blessing.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy countless gifts to us, especially the gift of Thy dear Son, Jesus Christ, who gave Himself that we might have eternal life. May we prove our gratitude to Thee for all Thy mercy and goodness be selfless service in behalf of others. In the Master's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"Give alms of such things as ye have".

Alice A. B. Hoeffler (Virginia)

Government Bodies Put Out One Dollar Of Every Five Spent

One dollar out of every five spent for goods and services in the United States is spent by federal, state and local government agencies.

Overall government spending in 1955, the latest figures available, cost every man, woman and child in the country a total of $664 apiece.

Of this amount, $246 went for national defense, and the remainder paid all other federal, state and local costs.

Taxes amounted to $491 per capita, requiring more than six weeks of work by a factory employee at present wage rates to meet the tax bill.

Government debt outstanding increased by $8.5-billion.

The following were appointed on the nominating committee to secure officers for the next year: Mrs. George Kaehler, Mrs. Paul Kluth and Mrs. Robert Wheeler.

The Hose Line

Column conducted by the Tinley Park Fire Department.

Q. For out of town fires, how much water do you carry on the trucks?

A. Mr. C.-We carry approximately 2000 gallons of water on the three trucks. If more water is needed we have alternatives, such as calling in other departments, source of water at the fire, or using our equipment and shuttling water from the nearest hydrant.

Q. I understand that the Emergency Squad will not take people to the hospital in their equipment, why not?

A. Mrs. E.-This is a big question, if answer does not satisfy you, let us know will write you personally. We are not an ambulance service. In most cases we are called before the doctor is called. This places a large responsibility on the officers and men on the squad, and we do not have the authority to move any one until the doctor gives the order. We usually have to call the doctor for the people. If and only if the doctor gives the order that we are to transport a person to the hospital, will we do so, and we have found from past experience that in most cases the regular ambulance service is preferred.
